THE YEAR IN BRIEF

DURING 2014–2015, SCREENRIGHTS HAS:

• Collected $45.9 million in licence revenue and other income for the film and television industries
• Lowered our expenses to collections ratio from 14.9% to 14.2%
• Made 3,284 individual payments to members, with a total distribution of $38.6 million
• Entered a new five and a half year deal with Australian schools, ensuring simple access to television and radio for teaching, and payment to filmmakers
• Entered a new four-year deal with the New Zealand tertiary sector, providing access to audiovisual material for teaching, and an assured income stream to members
• Increased the reach of EnhanceTV Direct, our streaming service to schools, by 17%
OUR GOALS

We are leveraging our current reputation to achieve:

ACCESS – greater access to content for licensees

SERVICES – increased distribution efficiency and diversified range of services for members

RELATIONSHIPS – strategic relationships, bringing educators and filmmakers together, positioning and partnering with stakeholders

CAPABILITY – ensured capability to meet the current and future needs of the organisation

GOVERNANCE – stronger and transparent governance and risk management
ACCESS

Screenrights provides simple, technology neutral access to audiovisual content for audiences across the country and in New Zealand.
IN TEACHING

Screenrights educational licences reach more than 10,000 schools in Australia and New Zealand as well as tertiary institutions.

In the last 12 months we have negotiated a new deal with the Australian schools sector and with the New Zealand tertiary sector. Both of these deals provide certainty for educators wanting to use audiovisual material in teaching and ensure ongoing income for the rightsholders whose programs are used.

These deals are testament to the strong working relationship Screenrights has with the education sector and to the fact that our licences have continued to adapt to a changing digital environment. In particular the flexibility of the Screenrights licence has enabled the growth of streamed digital resource centres, giving educators and students immediate access to vast archives of content at home and in the classroom.

Our own streaming service, EnhanceTV Direct continues to grow, with a 17 per cent increased reach into schools, and with more tertiary institutions accessing the service through our partnership with RMIT. We have also been working closely with eTV in New Zealand, ensuring that New Zealand educators and students can get more out of audiovisual content in teaching.

In addition, Screenrights has been collaborating with the Australian schools sector, through the Copyright Advisory Group, to look at ways of simplifying our licence in the face of an increasingly complex technological environment. We look forward to continuing this work in the coming year.
ACCESS

“EnhanceTV is a fantastic resource that I can link very well to my curriculum. It assists me in future planning too, because I know I will almost always find what I need.”

Wendy Rheinberger, St Joseph’s School Quirindi
IN THE HOME
Screenrights also licenses the retransmission of members’ works into the homes of more than 2.25 million pay television subscribers, and via mobile phones and IPTV.

IN GOVERNMENT
In addition, our government copying agreements cover the copying of television and radio across federal and state departments. We have been consulting with government departments to ensure that our licence adapts to the changing digital environment to include downloading audiovisual material from the internet, and we have put an application before the Copyright Tribunal to expand our declaration to this effect.
SERVICES

“Screenrights revenues have helped the Beyond business by providing a revenue stream that only requires a fairly light administrative effort. It enables Beyond Distribution to pass on greater revenues to producers both internal and external thus boosting our profile as a successful distributor.”

Jim Harper, Beyond International
DISTRIBUTIONS

In 2014-2015 we paid out a total of $38.6 million to members, including a record breaking $28.4 million paid in December alone. Our total number of payments for the period was 3,284, covering an extraordinary 3,630,801 royalties.

REGISTRATIONS

The number of new registrations reached 126,887 in the last financial year bringing the total number of registered claims to 1.3 million. We are also working closely with members to resolve conflicts as efficiently as possible and in the last year conducted extensive consultation with members, including round tables in Sydney and Melbourne, to seek input into our dispute resolution processes.
DISBURSEMENTS

Over the course of 2014-2015, our new disbursement service for the Australian film industry has evolved. Disbursements by Screenrights now offers a range of disbursement administration service products (DASAs) to cater for the individual needs of projects and provide flexible options to producers. MyScreenrights has been extended to provide producers with 24/7 access to their disbursement reports and sales history.
SUPPORT

In addition, we support our members through sponsorship of the Screen Producers’ Australia (SPA) Screen Forever Conference, the Australian International Documentary Conference, and the Australian Directors’ Guild conference. In New Zealand we supported the Screen Production and Development Association (SPADA) Conference, Screen Edge Forum, and the Big Screen Symposium.
The capacity to realise opportunities while rising to challenges, has been fundamental to Screenrights’ success in a copyright landscape that continues to change at a dramatic pace.

I am pleased to report that this year has been no exception, with our financial results demonstrating our strength in an environment that is unrecognisable from the one in which we commenced operations just over 25 years ago.

With total income at $45.9 million, we have had a growth in collections. We have also reduced our expenses to collections ratio, from 14.9% to 14.2%. These figures are a clear indication that our licences are flourishing in a world where consumers want immediate streamed access to a wealth of audiovisual content.

As the pace of change continues to accelerate, our strong relationships with consumers of audiovisual material ensure that we will evolve together to meet the growing need for new and exciting ways of using content.

Our negotiations with the schools sector have been testament to our capacity to work together in enabling access to audiovisual material in the digital classroom now and in the future. This agreement is a five and a half year deal, delivering certainty to the education sector in using film and television, and providing payment to our members.

Similarly, we have concluded a new deal with the New Zealand tertiary sector – for a four-year term.

Our partners in education have let us know that students and educators want to be able to use content anywhere at anytime. Screenrights delivers this by working closely with resource centres who are enabling access to vast archives of copied programs for educators and students, whether at home or at work. Our own service, EnhanceTV Direct, has been trialled by over 250 schools in the last financial year, with a 17% growth in its reach. In addition we have licensed a number of new streaming services providing an extraordinary range of options for teachers wanting to make the most of technology in education.

On the other side of the copyright environment, rightsholders and collecting societies are facing increasing pressure in digital rights management, with a vast growth in data bringing with it new costs in monetising content.

Screenrights is assisting the film industry with this, with its disbursement service offering a simple one stop shop for producers wanting a trusted third party to manage disbursements on their behalf.

We are also working closely with members to ensure that we continue to distribute Screenrights royalties as efficiently as possible in the face of a dramatic growth in rights registrations, bringing with it the potential for increasing competing claims. We consult widely and regularly to ensure our systems and procedures enable us to pay the rightsholders as soon as possible.

There is no doubt our landscape will continue to change, but each year Screenrights proves itself to be more than capable of thriving in an environment that is exciting for both creators and for the people who use their work. We look forward to realising new opportunities for accessing the wonderful work made by our members, while delivering the revenue streams that allow them to grow.

Annotated Statement of Financial Performance for the Year Ended 30 June 2015

We know that not everyone wants to analyse financial statements, so below is our annual summary of the most important information in these accounts. The notes show the calculations which determine how much money is available to distribute to rightsholders from the royalties collected and interest received, and after the deduction of tax and expenses.

Non-IFRS Financial Measures

The annotated statement of financial position includes certain non-IFRS financial measures. The directors believe the presentation of non-IFRS financial measures is useful for the users of this document as they reflect the amounts available for distribution to rightsholders after the addition of expired trust funds and the transfer of surplus reserves. The below non-IFRS financial measures have not been subject to review or audit.

Screenrights can hold allocations in trust for a maximum of six years while trying to locate relevant rightsholders. Under the Attorney-General’s Guidelines, these funds are then added to the Distributable Amount in the current year. For 2009, expired trust funds by scheme were Pt VA $111,000, NZ $22,000, Pt VC $137,000 and AGS $16,000.
